A message from Bill Estep - President and CEO, Parkline, Inc.

In my last update I introduced you to the following pledge:
We will be known for our creativity, willingness and ability to team with customers. We will perform with the highest levels of service and predictability throughout the life cycle of all projects including design, build-out, commissioning, maintenance and field repairs. We are dedicated to delivering the quality necessary to protect your assets for the long haul and to employee safety and satisfaction.

I am happy to report that three months into our journey, we are driving value for our customers in new and exciting ways. Let me tell you about one such project...

As much or as little as you need...

Whether you're looking for an empty building or a fully integrated building and a "one-stop shopping" experience, Parkline, Inc. has a solution to meet your needs. At Parkline, we understand that each client has different needs and it's our goal to provide exactly what you need, exactly when you need it. We manufacture the simplest of buildings and the most complexly integrated structures and we do it all in accordance with your project specific requirements.

Need an empty shell to mount over your existing equipment for weather protection?

We can do that!

Maybe you require a more fully contained building to house equipment and personnel in local or remote locations?

We can do that too!

How about that one project that you already have all the major electrical components for and just need the basic electrical accessories?

Parkline has you covered!

Need a total project solution with one point of contact for a fully integrated building?

Once again, Parkline can address all of your needs!

At Parkline, we also understand that sometimes pre-assembled buildings are not the best fit for some projects when site logistics, building size or shipping costs may make the modular approach less effective.

Parkline and our builder network have a solution for that too!

For these conditions, we can site-erect the building that best meets your needs and we offer the same levels of integration, whether built on your site or factory assembled.

What you need matters and at Parkline, our knowledgeable and professional team is dedicated to providing you with unsurpassed service, attention to detail and on-time delivery.

Speak to a Parkline rep to find out which solution will best meet your needs!
